Symptom (public)

How do I log in to WebLicht?

Problem (public)

Solution (public)

Use your DFN-AAI account (provided by many universities and institutions) to log in to WebLicht.

If you don't know if you have a DFN-AAI account, or you need to request a CLARIN account, click on the Start WebLicht

You will be redirected to a page where you can choose your provider (i.e. your university or institution).

If you don't see the name of your provider in the list immediately, try entering a search term in the search box or clicking on the Locate me more accurately using HTML5 Geo-Location button.

If your provider is not listed, you can request an account from the CLARIN provider at [1]<http://www.clarin.eu/user/register>

Once you have chosen a provider you will be redirected to that provider's login page. After entering your login credentials you will then land on the WebLicht web application page.
